

Headliners

Sources

February is Black History month. Almost all my pictures were photocopies from different books and articles as well as a few newspaper articles. I mixed in some very bright mats for some of articles. The purple background made the black and white photocopies stand out. The title of the display was to portray these personalities as "headliners" in books and newspapers as well as life itself. Some of the documents I used were old, these were useful for the display:
